

LA CROSSE MILLING COMPANY

To our valued customers,

LaCrosse Milling Company issues the following GMO Free Statement for the following Products:

OATS & BARLEY: There are no oats or barley available containing transgenic materials. Concerns about genetically modified oats and barley are unsupported. We periodically research the subject and maintain contact with authorities. To date, we have not found information on projects, currently underway or projected, in which oats or barley are being studied or considered for genetic enhancement.

WHEAT: To date, there are no transgenic wheat crops available. Transgenic wheat crops are however, currently being investigated. When they do become available for human food ingredients, La Crosse Milling will take appropriate steps to maintain compliance with regulatory, customer and consumer requirements.

LaCrosse Milling Company processes GMO corn in a separate facility for animal feed only; there is no risk that it will contaminate our food products.

Corn is processed in our South Plant in a separate processing building and used for animal feed only. GMO corn is approved for use in animal feeds.
